

Welcome FY20/FY21 IFMA New Mexico Board of Directors!

IFMA New Mexico President

Karen Leigh Cook has always enjoyed being a part of the "IFMA can do" attitude and is at her best when sharing her passion for a community cause. Karen's role as Interface Account Executive has provided her with a foundation for many of her accomplishments, including her work in Interface America's National Recycling Policy, the state of New Mexico Green Building Tax Credit, assisting US Mayors in the development of National Water Policy and developing sustainable purchasing guidelines for local and state governments. With 30 years behind her in commercial real estate specializing in urban redevelopment, Karen will continue to bring her knowledge and enthusiasm to the IFMA Family.

IFMA New Mexico Vice President

Marissa Oakeley brings an extensive depth of experience in integrated sales, marketing, and strategic business planning in the hospitality and construction industry. Her creative energy and love for building science has helped provide the foundation our local IFMA chapter needs to continue its successful growth. As the Strategic Business Manager for Tremco Construction Products Group, she has been instrumental in its sales and strategic marketing growth, helping increase its one-of-a-kind market position in the industry.

IFMA New Mexico Treasurer

Melanie García has served a fundamental role in our organization as the liaison between the Anderson School of Management User Group and UNM Planning, Design, and Construction since 2017. Melanie's extensive knowledge in conference and project planning, including the $25 Million UNM McKinnon Center for Management Project, has served IFMA well. Her experience including service as UNM Anderson School of Management's Facility Manager, makes her well-positioned to support IFMA members' specific needs.

IFMA New Mexico Secretary

Amy Townsley is entering her fourth year of service for our organization. Her dedication and hunger for building strong community relationships have served the board well over the years. Amy's work at Steamatic has put her in a vital position to connect with and support facility managers throughout New Mexico. She is an ardent believer that participation is essential in any organization, and she has proven this over the years with your contributions to IFMA, FMA, and CREW.
